Greetings to all our Covenant Partners,

I pray this letter finds you living in God's richest blessings.

Well, the time has come once again when we set up the tree and pull out the lights and as the song says "Deck the Halls". We buy gifts for loved ones and wrap them up and place them under the tree for the day to come. You know what day I am talking about! The day!!!! But I wonder why we wait for this one day a year to go to this extreme to give to others. OK, I am not trying to make you fall out but... I have thought how cool it would be to have Christmas year round - a year of daily giving and receiving and looking around at the beauty of our surroundings. Well, if I am reading the Word correctly, that is the way it is supposed to be. We are not to wait just for this season to come but instead live it daily. We are to look for those that we can bless and sow into and also know that others are looking for us to sow into.

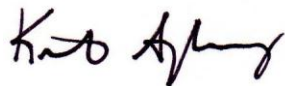

God has given all mankind the ability to receive the greatest gift ever at anytime and we have the ability to offer that free gift to others at any point year round. Freely we receive, and freely we give, sound familiar? We were created to be what most people reserve for only certain days out of the year. Givers!!

So, as you enter into what the world calls the season of giving, don't let it end on December 25th but instead make it your new daily lifestyle. Make it your way of life to find someone that you can bless, somehow someway each day!

I pray God's richest over you and yours and have a very Merry Christmas.

Always know that you are in our prayers here and it would be an honor to hear from you.

Keep Reaching Forward,

Keith Spanberger
